New Year, Newly Organized Pantry!

Having an organized pantry can be very important for any home cook. When ingredients are neatly organized in clear containers it can help with meal planning, grocery list making, and peace of mind (who doesn't love when everything is in its place?). Many new year's resolutions involve cooking more or eating healthier, and an organized kitchen and pantry can help with reaching those important goals.

Bormioli Rocco's clear glass Fido Jars are a great way to keep dry ingredients, like pasta, rice, beans and more, tidy and organized. With 10 sizes to choose from, there is a jar for every need. A chalkboard surface is available on our four most popular sizes to clearly label contents and our four smallest sizes are newly available with brightly colored lids to liven up any counter-top or cabinet.

Please take a look at our suggestions for creating and maintaining an organized pantry below. As always, please let us know if we can pass along samples, hi-res images or more ideas.
